Presenter: Steve Owens, Facility Director, CAE

Information:

Endorsement: X

Background Information:

The Division of Criminal Justice, Office of Community Corrections, under their Performance-Based Contracting Model, requires community corrections vendors to select and report on Key Performance Indicators (KPIs). KPIs are quantifiable measures that demonstrate performance improvement. For the purposes of performance-based contracting, the areas of performance assessed will be one on staff retention, one on staff training, and two on reducing unauthorized absences. KPIs present an opportunity for providers and boards to work together to set meaningful goals and target metrics based on individual program performance.

Local Community Corrections Board-approved KPIs will be sent to the Office of Community Corrections. Vendors will collect data from January 1, 2026, to October 31, 2026, and present it to the Board for review and approval in December 2026. All results will be delivered to the Office of Community Corrections.

CAE presents the attached KPIs to the Board for approval.

Focus areas with metric targets include:

- Staff Retention
- Staff Training

Hello my name is Matthew Tullis, and I am with the Office of Community Corrections (OCC).

In the upcoming calendar year, January 1st 2026 through October 31th 2026, you will be doing key performance indicators (KPIs) as part of the performance based contracting (PBC) cycle.

The data collection period will be in the fiscal year. In terms of timeframes:

- First, board approved KPIs, including the metric targets, are due to the Office of Community Corrections ahead of the of the calendar year.
 - I realize this is a quick turn around, so let me know if you need an extension.
- Second, the data collection period for approved KPI metrics starts.
- Third, the board reviewed and approved KPI performance delivered to the Office of Community Corrections on November 15th 2026.

The expectations for KPIs include:

- All KPIs and metric targets must first be approved by the local community corrections board and then by the OCC.
 - Local community corrections boards have influence over the KPIs as the direct contract holder to ensure local interests and expectations are represented.
- Your KPIs, and the determined metric targets, shall be based on current data and represent progress and growth for the individual program.
 - Approval of KPIs will be based on the ability to provide data representing baseline measurement and setting of meaningful targets.
 - In order to receive KPI PBC funding, three of the four metrics must be met.
- Each program is expected to have a total of four KPIs.
 - KPIs shall be focused on staff training, staff retention, and/or reducing unauthorized absences.
 - The total number of KPIs will have to be four, but can be any combination of the three topics mentioned above.
 - For example, you could do a KPI on staff retention and three KPIs on reducing unauthorized absences.

- The local community corrections board and/or the Office of Community Corrections can audit performance on the KPI and/or request additional documentation to verify the KPI.

I have attached the KPI documents that show examples of what KPIs might look like. Feel free to use your own process though!

I would also like to offer up my assistance to everyone if they have any questions, comments, and/or concerns regarding the KPIs.

Thank you!

Appendix A

Community Corrections Referral Reporting

Quarters 1, 2,3 and 4, FY36

Background. HB 18-1251 requires the Division of Criminal Justice to publish an annual report that includes case referral and acceptance trends. This appendix provides the number of referrals submitted to each judicial district and the percent of community corrections referrals that are accepted within a judicial district by quarter for FY26.

Data source. Several local community corrections boards, in cooperation with the Colorado Association of Community Corrections Boards and Community Corrections Coalition, developed a survey that captures the number of referrals, board denials, and provider denials for each jurisdiction. Recognizing that there are different screening processes in each jurisdiction, only the final approved/denied decision is recorded and presented here. All boards with a residential program participated in the survey/data collection process in FY26.

Transition referrals. The transition referrals, approvals, and denials include all transition referrals screened by each judicial district, including primary, secondary and tertiary. A transition primary referral is a referral that is sent to the jurisdiction that an inmate is planning to parole to. Secondary and tertiary referrals are those that have been denied by the primary jurisdiction and sent to alternate jurisdictions for screening. In some jurisdictions, the number of secondary and tertiary transition referrals exceeds the number of primary referrals received.

Summary of findings. Diversion and Transition referral rates vary considerably across judicial districts, and also vary over time. In general, Diversion and Condition of Parole referrals were approved at higher rates than Transition referrals. Cases with a sex offense conviction were frequently denied; in some judicial districts, these cases are automatically excluded from consideration. The judicial district with the highest Transition acceptance rate (with an acceptance rate above xx%) in FY26 was the xx. The judicial district with the highest Diversion acceptance rate (with rates above xx %) was the xx. The judicial districts with the highest Condition of Parole acceptance rates (with rates above xx %) were the xx.
